

Jamin A Nichols, AP, MAOM

Acupuncture Physician

Jamin began his studies in acupuncture and Oriental medicine in 1996 in Gainesville, FL graduating from Florida School of Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine in 1998. Following he took his boards and received his national certification and Florida acupuncture license. Going on to receive his master's degree in 2004 from Dragon Rises College of Oriental Medicine (DRCOM) Jamin has also been a faculty member and clinic supervisor with the college since 2002. Since 1998, he has trained extensively with Dr. Leon Hammer, internationally known author (Dragon Rises, Red Bird Flies: Psychology and Chinese Medicine and Chinese Pulse Diagnosis: A Contemporary Approach) and president of DRCOM, in the arts of Contemporary Oriental Medicine™ and Contemporary Chinese Pulse Diagnosis™. In 2003, Jamin also began training in Toyohari, a gentle Japanese style of acupuncture that often involves non-insertion techniques (great for those apprehensive about needles). He has attended national and international trainings with some of the top teachers from Japan. Recently, Jamin has moved back to his hometown area of Melbourne, Florida and started practicing at Jade Sea Healing Arts, located in Melbourne. Through acupuncture, Chinese herbs, lifestyle and dietary counseling, he has been able to provide help with many health problems of both physical and mental-emotional nature.
